PROGRAM REPORT

The Department of Computer Science successfully organized a one-day Student Development Program (SDP) titled "PULSE-AI" on 26th April 2025, in association with Seshadripuram College. Aimed at final year BCA students, the program focused on introducing the fast-growing field of Artificial Intelligence (AI) and familiarizing students with modern AI tools that are reshaping industries and work environments.

The session began with a formal inauguration by the Head of the Department, followed by an address from the faculty coordinator who appreciated the collaboration with Seshadripuram College. The program was conducted by a group of MCA students from Seshadripuram College, who presented well-structured and interactive sessions tailored to undergraduate learners. The key objectives were to raise awareness about AI trends, provide hands-on experience with widely-used AI tools, and encourage students to apply AI solutions in their academic and career paths.

Highlights of the session included an introduction to AI, its evolution, and its applications across sectors like healthcare, finance, and education. Students were given live demonstrations of tools such as ChatGPT, GitHubCopilot, Notion AI, Google Bard, and Microsoft Copilotand many more. The session also touched upon responsible AI usage, ethics, and future opportunities in AI and machine learning.

A total of 57 students attended and actively participated, with feedback reflecting high levels of engagement and satisfaction.
